In the present paper, we have attempted to resolve the following questions: How are bats distributed among three major habitats at our study sites? How does community structure at three sites of contrasting climate and vegetation differ as indicated by diversity indices and niche matrices based on size and feeding behavior? How far do bats move in their foraging activities, and how are these movements related to food habits and to the real size of activity ranges? Finally, to what extent are seasonal climatic changes reflected in the reproductive strategies of bats? Data were obtained from three sites in Costa Rica - La Selva, Monteverde and La Pacifica.
