I made in May, 1865, the construction by them of a wooden flume, 1800 feet long, four feet wide and three deep, was already far advanced. It was supported on tressels of great strength at distances of three feet, with a surrounding frame-work. The object of this construction was to carry away from a higher point the waters of the stream, thus leaving its channel dry, and at the same time to afford water for washing the alluvions. Although of sufficient strength and capacity for the ordinary volume of water, this structure appeared to me when I examined it, to be unfit to resist the floods which occasionally bring rocks and uprooted trees down the channels of these ordinary quiet streams. I remarked this to my fellow-traveller at the time, and the event soon justified my fears, --for in the month of July last the dam across the river, and a portion of the canal itself, were carried by a flood following a violent storm. Having repaired this damage, and expended for the canal and for some buildings, a sum estimated at from 12, 000 to 15, 000, the Reciprocity Company, I am informed, made an open cutting in the dried-up bed of the stream from lot 16 to lot 18, and extracted thence about 2, 500 in gold. I must here call attention to a fact which is not without importance for the future of gold mining in Lower Canada, namely the subterranean working of the...
